

Unit 1 – Reflection:

As I reflect upon the first week of this unit, I find myself completely engrossed in the topics I have been researching. I am particularly interested in learning more about the role and responsibilities of a project manager, as this is my ultimate goal. I am eager to dive deeper into the subject matter, develop a thorough understanding of the best practices, and gain practical experience that will allow me to excel in this field. I am excited about the opportunities ahead and am ready to put in the hard work and dedication necessary to become a successful project manager.
