

Unit 11 – Reflection:

This week, the individual project presentation for Unit 11 was a significant and valued assignment. I dedicated a substantial amount of time to preparing the presentation slides, conducting thorough research, and adhering to all the necessary procedures. Meeting all the requirements and delivering the presentation as expected was challenging and slightly stressful.

I have been reflecting on my time management and repeating my concerns. I must admit that I am a bit behind in completing my artefacts, especially those crucial for understanding the entire module, such as the Learning Outcomes documents. However, I am committed to putting in the hard work. Once I finish all my assignments, I will prioritise working on these missing documentation pieces. I want to showcase them in my ePortfolio as evidence of my learning and growth throughout the course.

The lecture on future trends has revealed the importance of understanding and adapting to upcoming changes. It has broadened my perspective, making me realise that my focus should not solely be on my personal goals of becoming a project manager, but also on using available resources to improve service delivery. Reflecting on the previous modules, I now grasp the significance of these topics and their practical application in my future endeavours.
