

Unit 3 – Reflection:

Reflecting on the Unit 3 study, I am thrilled to assert that I have acquired vast knowledge. Estimating, planning, and risk management are now clear to me as crucial components of project management. The insights gained from identifying various tools and techniques have added immense value to my understanding of the subject matter. I am excited to apply these newfound skills in real-world scenarios and contribute to successful project outcomes.

Furthermore, during the unit 3 study, a value study focused on the lecture cast and discussed the crucial topics of estimating, planning, and risk management. Through this lecture, I gained valuable insights into the old practices that were followed and how they can be relevant in today's context. I can confidently identify the most appropriate estimating process for a given scenario, create an estimate using the most suitable methodology, discuss and demonstrate standard planning tools, explain the risk management process, and conduct a risk evaluation.

The lecture cast emphasised the importance of implementing these practices in modern-day applications and how they can help mitigate risks and achieve better outcomes. Overall, the lecture cast was informative and helped me understand the significance of these practices in my day-to-day work. I am confident in my abilities and look forward to applying these skills in real-world scenarios.